New England Mutual Life Ins.,
Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,
Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.
THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by letting them alone.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by letting them alone.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected POSITIVELY, by LETTING THEM ALONE.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, when she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rabain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauroux's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bouset, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after-fate! Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudou's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

MORTALITY OF NEW YORK CITY.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,139 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

ALL THE FOOLS NOT DEAD YET!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain for 40 days from the date of this ordinance, from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured.—Rockford Dem.

TRUE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas and probably in Nebraska.

DOG DAYS.—No less than 1900 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

AN "OVER ISSUE."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoian.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE : : : : WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

DEATH OF JOHN A. MESSENGER.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.—It will be a a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,797,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any snch purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

MORE RAILROADS.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

The other is the Portage City and Swan Lake road, and the officers in this are:

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A WELL CONTESTED SHIP RACE.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

WHO IS RIGHT?"—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that thetr freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Tirginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

AHEAD OF WEBSTER.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsuffisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsuffisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whoach," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"PROFESSOR RUSSELL COMSTOCK."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

HIGH INTEREST, WITH BEST OF SECURITY.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

INHALATION.

A Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Cousumption, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart and Liver.

GREENHOUGH, late of London, England, resident Physician of New Orleans, for the above specialities, respectfully inform the citizens Janesville that he will remain a few days at the MERCHANTS' HOTEL, to afford those of the afflicted who may desire it, an opportunity of availing themselves of Inhalation, the only reliable process of cure.

His plan of living (a hygiene sheet) embraces not only the kind of food and drink, but the kind of bath, exercise, dress, &c., most congenial to the organism of the patient.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected POSITIVELY, by LETTING THEM ALONE.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1854.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Loraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The same difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily filoat the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

AGAIN & AGAIN

THE BOSTON STORE.

Let the Horn be Blown!!

"Sound the loud timbrel o'er land and o'er sea,"
WHEELOCK'S triumphant, and ever shall be.

THIS is the middle of the nineteenth century, the first half of which has produced more change and onward movement than any fifty years of our Christian Era.

The great controlling power of this age is its commerce—indeed, this may be truly called the commercial age.

It has been well said by an ancient writer that

"Man wants but little here below,"

and to supply those wants

WHEELOCK

Announces to every people and every tongue, to both sexes and all parties, to all factions of all gauges, that finding his old store entirely

TOO SMALL!

He has been compelled, in order to be able to supply the immense call for goods at his establishment, to Double the capacity of his Store Rooms!

Having purchased this spring, for this market, to be sold this season,

$39,007 00 Worth of Goods

But who can expect to read in the brief space of one life all the articles that the

BOSTON STORE CONTAINS.

STOCK OF SUMMER GOODS,

His inimitable selection of

Fancy Dress Goods!

He has over

10,000 Yards of Silk Barages,

of every style and price, and it is with no great difficulty that the fair damsels of this fair valley can select,

FROM THE ONE THOUSAND PIECES,

Of all patterns and ranging in price from SIX CENTS Per Yard to Twenty-Eight Cents, such dresses as will add to their exquisite beauty, though it may as a general thing, be as difficult to add to that beauty as it is "to gild refined gold, paint the lily, or add perfume to the violet."

It must not be inferred that we offer only these and the many other articles for outer apparel, such as Chamelion and Foulard Silks, but all manner of

are on change, so that every one may be entirely accommodated with every article of female apparrel.—Eved French red foxed Gaiters,

do do wolfed do

Ladies' Enameled Boots, Enameled sewed Congress Boots,

LADIES MOROCCO POLKAS,

And all the articles manufacutred of the best styles.—So that of this store, so far as articles which adorn La Belle sex are concerned, it may be truly said

"CUSTOM cannot stale the infinit: variety."

While the Boston Store has made provision to protect the feet, it can also boast that it has all sorts of

GLOVES,

by which hands can be protected and retain

"The white wonder of fair Juliet's hand."

And in taking leave of those of whom it is no exaggeration to say they are

"Heaven's last, best gift to man,"

the Nonpareils of beauty, the Paragons of perfection, Mr. Wheelock assures his fair customers that his assistants and auxiliaries are those who unite great knowledge of the business, fine personal presence and affability of manner to a determination to discharge CONSCIENTIOUSLY their several and respective duties—that while they may have the proper desire to effect sales, they will never in imitation of many of our contemporaries attempt to accomplish that object by equivocation, misrepresentation, exaggeration, tergiversation, fabrication, or by direct lying.

And now to the wants of the

COARSE-HAND SEX.

Mr. Wheelock has every kind of material to make those articles of dress that give to man his individuality—

PANTALOONS,

HATS

That fit every head from the Websterian brow to the country politician's sconce, from the size of caput of him who is closely shorn after the Hibernian fashion to that of him who wears the well-pomatumed, ambrosialized, elongated Hyperion curls.

And to the speculator who buys to sell again,

The Boston Store

Can, at lower rates of usance than any other establishment west of the Alleghany mountains, furnish that class of exchanges so that riches will fill their pockets as water fills the sea. And to them we offer

DOMESTIC GLASSWARE, WORSTED, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Inkstands, Cotton Yarn, Ready-made Vests, Ground Pepper, Flannels, Looking Glasses, Ready-Made Over Coats, Pants, Raisins, Flat Irons and Cotton Batting, Lanterns, Satchels, which the whining school-boy with shining morning face bears on his arm, Chests, Norwegian Bandboxes and Hair Trunks, Tea, Tobacco and Wicking.

In the

CROCKERY

Line may be found the BENNINGTON, the PARIAN and the LAVA Manufacture, Pitchers for milk or water, Tea Pots, Spittoons, Bowls for washing, for bread and milk, or sugar, Candlesticks, children's Toys and Flower Pots, MAINE LIQUOR LAW VOLUMES and Lager Beer Mugs.

And in fine, the proprietor of this establishment can with all confidence assure those who have been in the habit of trading at Janesville that, although they have

"Often seen corruption boil and bubble till
It o'errun the stew,"

they will find that the representations which shall be made to them by that proprietor or his clerks will not

"Stand like forfeits in a Barber shop,
More in mock than mark."

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.

The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higgiers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.

Respectfully,

NEW GOODS!

$15,000 Worth of

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.

I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is finer than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of

Ladies Fine Shoes,

in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.

In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.

Manufacturing.

I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can

and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.

I want to state further that I have secured the services of MR. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

Leather and Findings.

I have just received over $3,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at

Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.

I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kings of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.

I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the pedlers.

TO THE LADIES,

I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsom pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates. Yours respectfully,

J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor,
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, when she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rahain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauroux's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bosuet, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after fate! Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudon's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

MORTALITY OF NEW YORK CITY.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,139 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

ALL THE FOOLS NOT DEAD YET!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain for 40 days from the date of this ordinance, from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured. —Rockford Dem.

TRUE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas and probably in Nebraska.

DOG DAYS.—No less than 1900 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

AN "OVER ISSUE."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoisan.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE, : : WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

DEATH OF JOHN A. MESSENGER.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.—It will be a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,797,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any such purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

MORE RAILROADS.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

The other is the Portage City and Swan Lake road, and the officers in this are:

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A WELL CONTESTED SHIP RACE.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

WHO IS RIGHT?—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that their freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Virginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

AHEAD OF WEBSTER.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsuffisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsuffisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whoach," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"PROFESSOR RUSSELL COMSTOCK."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

HIGH INTEREST, WITH BEST OF SECURITY.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

INHALATION.

A Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart and Liver.

DR. THOMAS H. GREENHOUGH, late of London, England, resident Physician of New Orleans, for the above specialities, respectfully inform the citizens Janesville that he will remain a few days at the MERCHANTS' HOTEL, to afford those of the afflicted who may desire it, an opportunity of availing themselves of Inhalation, the only reliable process of cure.

The consideration of the connection between mind and body, and the influence of nature's laws upon the constitution of man, constitutes a very essential part of Dr. Greenhough's practice, and governs him in the administration of remedies, which are numerous and varied, to suit the peculiar condition of each case.

His plan of living (a hygiene sheet) embraces not only the kind of food and drink, but the kind of bath, exercise, dress, &c., most congenial to the organism of the patient.

After Dr. Greenhough's departure, Dr. Hays McKinley, resident Physician of Kenosha, will attend to those who may place themselves under the care of Dr. G., who will shortly return to New Orleans to resume his practice.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c. —also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood —skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done —take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

They say long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

IRA P. BALLOU.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap a any price we do not deal in; but buy only the bes grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CAN AND WILL SELL

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

We would say, that we will sell you goods at New York and Boston prices, adding freight. You will find us at the old stand of J. B. CROSBY, two doors above the Post Office.

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism,	Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciataca,	General Debility,
Paralysis,	Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease,	Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness,	Rheumatic Pains of the
Dyspepsia, Indigestion,	Chest

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be consigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c. J. STEINERT, General Agent,

568 Broadway, New York.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by letting them alone.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

THE LECTURE AT APOLLO HALL.—Dr. Greenhough, who proposes to give a lecture at Apollo Hall this evening, is well spoken of in various places where he has lectured. His subject is an important one, and there can be no harm in hearing what he has to say.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1854.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Lorraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The sam difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily float the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

AGAIN & AGAIN

THE BOSTON STORE.

Let the Horn be Blown!!

"Sound the loud timbrel o'er land and o'er sea,
WHEELOCK'S triumphant, and ever shall be.

THIS is the middle of the nineteenth century, the first half of which has produced more change and onward movement than any fifty years of our Christian Era.

The great controlling power of this age is its commerce—indeed, this may be truly called the commercial age.

It has been well said by an ancient writer that

"Man wants but little here below,"

and to supply those wants

WHEELOCK

Announces to every people and every tongue, to both sexes and all parties, to all factions of all gauges, that finding his old store entirely

TOO SMALL!

He has been compelled, in order to be able to supply the immense call for goods at his establishment, to

Double the capacity of his Store Rooms!

Having purchased this spring, for this market, to be sold this season,

$39,007 00 Worth of Goods

But who can expect to read in the brief space of one life all the articles that the

BOSTON STORE CONTAINS.

STOCK OF SUMMER GOODS,

His inimitable selection of

Fancy Dress Goods!

He has over

10,000 Yards of Silk Barages,

of every style and price, and it is with no great difficulty that the fair damsels of this fair valley can select,

FROM THE ONE THOUSAND PIECES,

Of all patterns and ranging in price from SIX CENTS Per Yard to Twenty-Eight Cents, such dresses as will add to their exquisite beauty, though it may as a general thing, be as difficult to add to that beauty as it is "to gild refined gold, paint the lily, or add perfume to the violet."

It must not be inferred that we offer only these and the many other articles for outer apparel, such as Chamelion and Foulard Silks, but all manner of

are on change, so that every one may be entirely accommodated with every article of female apparrel.—Eved French red foxed Gaiters,

do do wolfed do

Ladies' Enameled Boots, Enameled sewed Congress Boots,

LADIES MOROCCO POLKAS,

And all the articles manufacutred of the best styles.—So that of this store, so far as articles which adorn La Belle sex are concerned, it may be truly said

"CUSTOM cannot stale the infinite variety."

While the Boston Store has made provision to protect the feet, it can also boast that it has all sorts of

GLOVES,

by which hands can be protected and retain

"The white wonder of fair Juliet's hand."

And in taking leave of those of whom it is no exaggeration to say they are

"Heaven's last, best gift to man,"

the Nonpareils of beauty, the Paragons of perfection, Mr. Wheelock assures his fair customers that his assistants and auxiliaries are those who unite great knowledge of the business, fine personal presence and affability of manner to a determination to discharge CONSCIENTIOUSLY their several and respective duties—that while they may have the proper desire to effect sales, they will never in imitation of many of our contemporaries attempt to accomplish that object by equivocation, misrepresentation, exaggeration, tergiversation, fabrication, or by direct lying.

And now to the wants of the

COARSE-HAND SEX.

Mr. Wheelock has every kind of material to make those articles of dress that give to man his individuality—

PANTALOONS,

CALF "BEWTS," COW HIDE do., GAZELLE, do., PATENT LEATHER do., GIRAFFE do.,

HATS

That fit every head from the Webeterian brow to the country politician's sconce, from the size of caput of him who is closely shorn after the Hibernian fashion to that of him who wears the well-pomatumed, ambrosialized, elongated Hyperion curls.

And to the speculator who buys to sell again,

The Boston Store

Can, at lower rates of usance than any other establishment, west, of the Alleghany mountains, furnish that class of exchanges so that riches will fill their pockets as water fills the sea. And to them we offer

DOMESTIC GLASSWARE, WORSTED, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Inkstands, Cotton Yarn, Ready-made Vests, Ground Pepper, Flannels, Looking Glasses, Ready-Made Over Coats, Pants, Raisins, Flat Irons and Cotton Batting, Lanterns, Satchels, which the whining school-boy with shining morning face bears on his arm,

Chests, Norwegian Bandboxes and Hair Trunks,

Tea, Tobacco and Wicking.

In the

CROCKERY

Line may be found the

BENNINGTON, the PARIAN and the LAVA Manufacture, Pitchers for milk or water, Tea Pots, Spittoons, Bowls for washing, for bread and milk, or sugar, Candlesticks, children's Toys and Flower Pots, MAINE LIQUOR LAW VOLUMES and Lager Beer Mugs.

And in fine, the proprietor of this establishment can with all confidence assure those who have been in the habit of trading at Janesville that, although they have

"Often seen corruption boil and bubble till
It o'errun the stew,"

they will find that the representations which shall be made to them by that proprietor or his clerks will not

"Stand like forfeits in a Barber shop,
More in mock than mark."

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.

The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.

Respectfully,

NEW GOODS!

$15,000 Worth of

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.

I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is more than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of

Ladies Fine Shoes,

in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.

In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.

Manufacturing.

I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can

and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.

I want to state further that I have secured the services of MR. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

Leather and Findings.

I have just received over $8,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at

Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.

I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kinds of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.

I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the peddlers.

TO THE LADIES,

I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates.

Yours respectfully,

J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor.
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, when she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rahain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauronx's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bosuet, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after-fate! Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudon's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

MORTALITY OF NEW YORK CITY.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,139 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

ALL THE FOOLS NOT DEAD YET!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured. —Rockford Dem.

TRUE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas and probably in Nebraska.

DOG DAYS.—No less than 1900 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

AN "OVER ISSUE."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoisan.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE : : : : WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

DEATH OF JOHN A. MESSENGER.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.—It will be a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,797,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any such purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

MORE RAILROADS.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

The other is the Portage City and Swan Lake road, and the officers in this are:

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A WELL CONTESTED SHIP RACE.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

WHO IS RIGHT?"—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that their freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Virginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

AHEAD OF WEBSTER.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsuffisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsuffisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whoach," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"PROFESSOR RUSSELL COMSTOCK."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

HIGH INTEREST, WITH BEST OF SECURITY.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

INHALATION.

A Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart and Liver.

DR. THOMAS H. GREENHOUGH, late of London, England, resident Physician of New Orleans, for the above specialities, respectfully inform the citizens Janesville that he will remain a few days at the MERCHANTS' HOTEL, to afford those of the afflicted who may desire it, an opportunity of availing themselves of Inhalation, the only reliable process of cure.

The consideration of the connection between mind and body, and the influence of nature's laws upon the constitution of man, constitutes a very essential part of Dr. Greenhough's practice, and governs him in the administration of remedies, which are numerous and varied, to suit the peculiar condition of each case.

His plan of living (a hygiene sheet) embraces not only the kind of food and drink, but the kind of bath, exercise, dress, &c., most congenial to the organism of the patient.

After Dr. Greenhough's departure, Dr. Hays McKinley, resident Physician of Kenosha, will attend to those who may place themselves under the care of Dr. G., who will shortly return to New Orleans to resume his practice.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c. —also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood—skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done. —take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

The richest and the cheapest goods in Janesville, will be sold.

My large and splendid stock of Lawns to show I'm always willing,
The price, as all the Ladies know, is from sixpence to a shilling.
I've Fine Black Silks from Italy, and colored ones that's rare,
Plaid, Grodenaps and Marcellaines, and Florences to spare.

And such a lot of Hosiery, I know cannot be beat,
And Gloves a great variety, they are so very neat:
Just now, when Spring is coming, and every thing looks bright,
For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

They say, long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

IRA P. BALLOU.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap a any price we do not deal in; but buy only the bes grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

We would say, that we will sell you goods at New York and Boston prices, adding freight. You will find us at the old stand of J. B. CROSBY, two doors above the Post Office.

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism,	Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciatica,	General Debility,
Paralysis,	Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease,	Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness,	Rheumatic Pains of the

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be cousigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c.

New England Mutual Life Ins.,

Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,

Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be pecuniarily interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST,

THE MADISON MUTUAL,

LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by letting them alone.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

THE LECTURE AT APOLLO HALL.—Dr. Greenhough, who proposes to give a lecture at Apollo Hall this evening, is well spoken of in various places where he has lectured. His subject is an important one, and there can be no harm in hearing what he has to say.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1854.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Loraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The same difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily filoat the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

AGAIN & AGAIN

THE BOSTON STORE.

Let the Horn be Blown!!

"Sound the loud timbrel o'er land and o'er sea,"
WHEELOCK'S triumphant, and ever shall be.

THIS is the middle of the nineteenth century, the first half of which has produced more change and onward movement than any fifty years of our Christian Era.

The great controlling power of this age is its commerce—indeed, this may be truly called the commercial age.

It has been well said by an ancient writer that

"Man wants but little here below,"

and to supply those wants

WHEELOCK

Announces to every people and every tongue, to both sexes and all parties, to all factions of all gauges, that finding his old store entirely

TOO SMALL!

He has been compelled, in order to be able to supply the immense call for goods at his establishment, to

Double the capacity of his Store Rooms!

Having purchased this spring, for this market, to be sold this season,

$39,007 00 Worth of Goods

But who can expect to read in the brief space of one life all the articles that the

BOSTON STORE CONTAINS.

STOCK OF SUMMER GOODS,

His inimitable selection of

Fancy Dress Goods!

He has over

10,000 Yards of Silk Barages,

of every style and price, and it is with no great difficulty that the fair damsels of this fair valley can select,

FROM THE ONE THOUSAND PIECES,

Of all patterns and ranging in price from SIX CENTS Per Yard to Twenty-Eight Cents, such dresses as will add to their exquisite beauty, though it may as a general thing, be as difficult to add to that beauty as it is "to gild refined gold, paint the lily, or add perfume to the violet."

It must not be inferred that we offer only these and the many other articles for outer apparel, such as Chamelion and Foulard Silks, but all manner of

are on charge, so that every one may be entirely accommodated with every article of female apparrel.—

Eyed French red foxed Gaiters,
do do wolfed do
Ladies' Enameled Boots, Enameled sewed Congress Boots,
LADIES MOROCCO POLKAS,

And all the articles manufactured of the best styles.—So that of this store, so far as articles which adorn La Belle sex are concerned, it may be truly said

"CUSTOM cannot stale the infinite variety."

While the Boston Store has made provision to protect the feet, it can also boast that it has all sorts of

GLOVES,

by which hands can be protected and retain

"The white wonder of fair Juliet's hand."

And in taking leave of those of whom it is no exaggeration to say they are

"Heaven's last, best gift to man,"

the Nonpareils of beauty, the Paragons of perfection, Mr. Wheelock assures his fair customers that his assistants and auxiliaries are those who unite great knowledge of the business, fine personal presence and affability of manner to a determination to discharge CONSCIENTIOUSLY their several and respective duties—that while they may have the proper desire to effect sales, they will never in imitation of many of our contemporaries attempt to accomplish that object by equivocation, misrepresentation, exaggeration, tergiversation, fabrication, or by direct lying.

And now to the wants of the

COARSE-HAND SEX.

Mr. Wheelock has every kind of material to make those articles of dress that give to man his individuality—

PANTALOONS,

CALF "BEWTS," COW HIDE do., GAZELLE do.,
PATENT LEATHER do., GIRAFFE do.,

HATS

That fit every head from the Websterian brow to the country politician's sconce, from the size of caput of him who is closely shorn after the Hibernian fashion to that of him who wears the well-pomatumed, ambrosialized, elongated Hyperion curls.

And to the speculator who buys to sell again,

The Boston Store

Can, at lower rates of usance than any other establishment west of the Alleghany mountains, furnish that class of exchanges so that riches will fill their pockets as water fills the sea. And to them we offer

DOMESTIC GLASSWARE, WORSTED,
Pocket Handkerchiefs, Inkstands, Cotton Yarn,
Ready-made Vests, Ground Pepper, Flannels,
Looking Glasses, Ready-Made Over Coats, Pants,
Raisins, Flat Irons and Cotton Batting, Lanterns,
Satchels, which the whining school-boy with shining morning face bears on his arm,
Chests, Norwegian Bandboxes and Hair Trunks,
Tea, Tobacco and Wicking.

In the

CROCKERY

Line may be found the

BENNINGTON, the PARIAN and the LAVA Manufacture, Pitchers for milk or water, Tea Pots, Spittoons, Bowls for washing, for bread and milk, or sugar, Candlesticks, children's Toys and Flower Pots, MAINE LIQUOR LAW VOLUMES and Lager Beer Mugs.

And in fine, the proprietor of this establishment can with all confidence assure those who have been in the habit of trading at Janesville that, although they have

"Often seen corruption boil and bubble till
It o'erran the stew,"

they will find that the representations which shall be made to them by that proprietor or his clerks will not

"Stand like forfeits in a Barber shop,
More in mock than mark."

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-pufings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.

The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.

Respectfully,

COOLEY & BABCOCK.

NEW GOODS!

$15,000 Worth of

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.

I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is finer than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of

Ladies Fine Shoes,

in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.

In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.

Manufacturing.

I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can

and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.

I want to state further that I have secured the services of MR. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

Leather and Findings.

I have just received over $3,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at

Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.

I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kinds of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.

I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the peddlers.

TO THE LADIES,

I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates. Yours respectfully,

J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor,
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.

By the-way, don't forget the location of the Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville, Wisconsin.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, which she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rahain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauroux's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bosuet, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after-fate? Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudon's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

Mortality of New York City.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,139 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

All the Fools not dead yet!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain for 40 days from the date of this ordinance, from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

Killed by Lightning.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured. —Rockford Dem.

True Democratic Doctrine.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas: and probably in Nebraska.

Dog Days.—No less than 1900 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

An "Over Issue."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoisan.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE :: :: WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

Adjournment of Congress.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

Death of John A. Messenger.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

The River and Harbor Bill.—It will be a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,797,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any such purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

More Railroads.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A Well Contested Ship Race.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

Who is Right?"—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that their freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Virginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

Ahead of Webster.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsuffisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsuffisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whoach," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"Professor Russell Comstock."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

High Interest, with Best of Security.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

INHALATION.

A Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart and Liver.

DR. THOMAS H. GREENHOUGH, late of London, England, resident Physician of New Orleans, for the above specialities, respectfully inform the citizens Janesville that he will remain a few days at the MERCHANTS' HOTEL, to afford those of the afflicted who may desire it, an opportunity of availing themselves of Inhalation, the only reliable process of cure.

The consideration of the connection between mind and body, and the influence of nature's laws upon the constitution of man, constitutes a very essential part of Dr. Greenhough's practice, and governs him in the administration of remedies, which are numerous and varied, to suit the peculiar condition of each case.

His plan of living (a hygiene sheet) embraces not only the kind of food and drink, but the kind of bath, exercise, dress, &c., most congenial to the organism of the patient.

After Dr. Greenhough's departure, Dr. Hays McKinley, resident Physician of Kenosha, will attend to those who may place themselves under the care of Dr. G., who will shortly return to New Orleans to resume his practice.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c.—also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood—skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done—take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

RAILROAD STORE!

I WISH to call attention, as I have done before,
To the Goods I am receiving now at the Railroad Store.
Where all the newest Fashions, to suit the young and old,
The richest and the cheapest goods in Janesville, will be sold.

My large and splendid stock of Lawns to show I'm always willing,
The price, as all the Ladies know, is from sixpence to a shilling.
I've Fine Black Silks from Italy, and colored ones that's rare,
Plaid, Grodenaps and Marcellaines, and Florences to spare.

And such a lot of Hosiery, I know cannot be beat,
And Gloves a great variety, they are so very neat:
Just now, when Spring is coming, and every thing looks bright,
For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

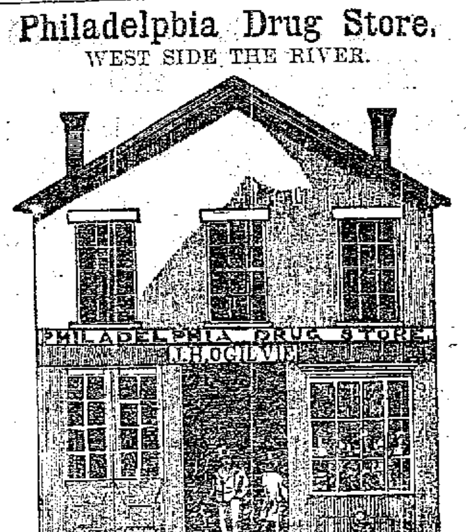

They say long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

IRA P. BALLOU.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap a any price we do not deal in; but buy only the bes grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

We would say, that we will sell you goods at New York and Boston prices, adding freight. You will find us at the old stand of J. B. CROSBY, two doors above the Post Office.

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism,	Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciataca,	General Debility,
Paralysis,	Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease,	Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness,	Rheumatic Pains of the Chest
Dyspepsia, Indigestion,

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be consigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c. J. STEINERT, General Agent,

568 Broadway, New York.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, which she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rahain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauroux's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bosuet, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after-fate? Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudon's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

Mortality of New York City.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,139 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

All the Fools not dead yet!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain for 40 days from the date of this ordinance, from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

Killed by Lightning.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured. —Rockford Dem.

True Democratic Doctrine.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas: and probably in Nebraska.

Dog Days.—No less than 1000 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

An "Over Issue."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoisan.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE :: :: WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

Adjournment of Congress.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

Death of John A. Messenger.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

The River and Harbor Bill.—It will be a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,797,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any such purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

More Railroads.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A Well Contested Ship Race.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

Who is Right?"—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that their freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Virginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

Ahead of Webster.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsuffisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsuffisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whoach," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"Professor Russell Comstock."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

High Interest, with Best of Security.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

THE LECTURE AT APOLLO HALL.—Dr. Greenhough, who proposes to give a lecture at Apollo Hall this evening, is well spoken of in various places where he has lectured. His subject is an important one, and there can be no harm in hearing what he has to say.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1851.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Lorraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The same difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily float the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

AGAIN & AGAIN
THE BOSTON STORE.
Let the Horn be Blown!!
"Sound the loud timbrel o'er land and o'er sea,"
WHEELOCK'S triumphant, and ever shall be.
THIS is the middle of the nineteenth century, the first half of which has produced more change and onward movement than any fifty years of our Christian Era.
The great controlling power of this age is its commerce—indeed, this may be truly called the commercial age.
It has been well said by an ancient writer that
"Man wants but little here below,"
and to supply those wants
WHEELOCK
Announces to every people and every tongue, to both sexes and all parties, to all factions of all gauges, that finding his old store entirely
TOO SMALL!
He has been compelled, in order to be able to supply the immense call for goods at his establishment, to Double the capacity of his Store Rooms!
Having purchased this spring, for this market, to be sold this season,
$39,007 00 Worth of Goods
But who can expect to read in the brief space of one life all the articles that the
BOSTON STORE CONTAINS.
Indeed, history must fail to give the searcher of knowledge any accurate idea of his immense
STOCK OF SUMMER GOODS,
His inimitable selection of
Fancy Dress Goods!
He has over
10,000 Yards of Silk Barages,
of every style and price, and it is with no great difficulty that the fair damsels of this fair valley can select,
FROM THE ONE THOUSAND PIECES,
Of all patterns and ranging in price from SIX CENTS Per Yard to Twenty-Eight Cents, such dresses as will add to their exquisite beauty, though it may as a general thing, be as difficult to add to that beauty as it is "to gild refined gold, paint the lily, or add perfume to the violet."
It must not be inferred that we offer only these and the many other articles for outer apparel, such as Chamelion and Foulard Silks, but all manner of
are on change, so that every one may be entirely accommodated with every article of female apparrel.—Eyed French red foxed Gaiters,
do do wolfed do
Ladies' Enameled Boots, Enameled sewed Congress Boots,
LADIES MOROCCO POLKAS,
And all the articles manufacutred of the best styles.—So that of this store, so far as articles which adorn La Belle sex are concerned, it may be truly said
"CUSTOM cannot stale the infinite variety."
While the Boston Store has made provision to protect the feet, it can also boast that it has all sorts of
GLOVES,
by which hands can be protected and retain
"The white wonder of fair Juliet's hand."
And in taking leave of those of whom it is no exaggeration to say they are
"Heaven's last, best gift to man," the Nonparells of beauty, the Paragons of perfection, Mr. Wheelock assures his fair customers that his assistants and auxiliaries are those who unite great knowledge of the business, fine personal presence and affability of manner to a determination to discharge CONSCIENTIOUSLY their several and respective duties—that while they may have the proper desire to effect sales, they will never in imitation of many of our contemporaries attempt to accomplish that object by equivocation, misrepresentation, exaggeration, tergiversation, fabrication, or by direct lying.
And now to the wants of the
COARSE-HAND SEX.
Mr. Wheelock has every kind of material to make those articles of dress that give to man his individuality—
PANTALOONS,
CALF "BEWTS," COW HIDE do., GAZELLE, do., PATENT LEATHER do., GIRAFFE do., HATS
That fit every head from the Websterian brow to the country politician's sconce, from the size of caput of him who is closely shorn after the Hibernian fashion to that of him who wears the well-pomatumed, ambrosialized, elongated Hyperion curls.
And to the speculator who buys to sell again,
The Boston Store
Can, at lower rates of usance than any other establishment west of the Alleghany mountains, furnish that class of exchanges so that riches will fill their pockets as water fills the sea. And to them we offer
DOMESTIC GLASSWARE, WORSTED, Pocket Handkerchiefs, Inkstands, Cotton Yarn, Ready-made Vests, Ground Pepper, Flannels, Looking Glasses, Ready-Made Over Coats, Pants, Ruisins, Flat Irons and Cotton Batting, Lanterns, Satchels, which the whining school-boy with shining morning face bears on his arm, Chests, Norwegian Bandboxes and Hair Trunks, Tea, Tobacco and Wicking.
In the
CROCKERY
Line may be found the
BENNINGTON, the PARIAN and the LAVA Manufacture, Pitchers for milk or water, Tea Pots, Spittoons, Bowls for washing, for bread and milk, or sugar, Candlesticks, children's Toys and Flower Pots, MAINE LIQUOR LAW VOLUMES and Lager Beer Mugs.
And in fine, the proprietor of this establishment can with all confidence assure those who have been in the habit of trading at Janesville that, although they have
"Often seen corruption boil and bubble till
It o'errun the stew,"
they will find that the representations which shall be made to them by that proprietor or his clerks will not
"Stand like forfeits in a Barber shop,
More in mock than mark."

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.
The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.
Respectfully,
COOLEY & BABCOCK.

Janesville Clothing Emporium.
WM. ADDY,
Merchant Tailor, & Dealer in Ready Made Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods,

HAS received his Spring and Summer STOCK, consisting of the very best and Fashionable CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS AND VESTINGS, of English, French and American manufacture.
This establishment is now, as usual, the favorite place of resort for the Fashionable, the Cutting Department still being under my own personal supervision, and warranted to suit the most difficult, twenty per cent lower than any other establishment in the State.
No Fit, No Sale, is my doctrine.
You will ask how I can do this; I will tell you: From my long experience in this business, and being a practical Tailor, I know when, where and how to buy my Goods, what to pay for them, and how to cut them, not having to secure the services of an eminent artist, at a salary of $1,000 to $1,500 a year, which the purchaser must pay for—this is the secret. I have got on hand a good assortment of Ready Made Clothing,
of my own manufacture, and warranted in every respect. Call and examine, before you buy elsewhere.

NEW GOODS!
$15,000 Worth of
JUST RECEIVED AT THE
Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.
I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is finer than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of
Ladies Fine Shoes,
in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.
GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.
In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.
Manufacturing.
I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can
Sell my Custom Work at Much Lower Prices,
and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.
I want to state further that I have secured the services of Mr. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.
Leather and Findings.
I have just received over $3,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at
Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.
I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kinds of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.
I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the peddlers.
TO THE LADIES,
I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates.
Yours respectfully,
J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor,
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.
By the way, don't forget the location of the Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville Wisconsin.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1851.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Lorraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The same difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily float the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.
The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers, although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.
Respectfully,

HAS received his Spring and Summer STOCK, consisting of the very best and Fashionable CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS AND VESTINGS, of English, French and American manufacture.

You will ask how I can do this; I will tell you: From my long experience in this business, and being a practical Tailor, I know when, where and how to buy my Goods, what to pay for them, and how to cut them, not having to secure the services of an eminent artist, at a salary of $1,000 to $1,500 a year, which the purchaser must pay for—this is the secret. I have got on hand a good assortment of Ready Made Clothing,
of my own manufacture, and warranted in every respect. Call and examine, before you buy elsewhere.

NEW GOODS!
$15,000 Worth of
JUST RECEIVED AT THE
Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.
I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is finer than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of
Ladies Fine Shoes,
in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.
GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.
In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.
Manufacturing.
I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can
Sell my Custom Work at Much Lower Prices,
and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.
I want to state further that I have secured the services of Mr. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.
Leather and Findings.
I have just received over $3,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at
Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.
I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kinds of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.
I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the peddlers.
TO THE LADIES,
I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates.
Yours respectfully,
J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor,
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.
By the way, don't forget the location of the Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville Wisconsin.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c.—also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood—skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done—take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

RAILROAD STORE!

I WISH to call attention, as I have done before,
To the Goods I am receiving now at the Railroad Store,
Where all the newest Fashions, to suit the young and old,
The richest and the cheapest goods in Janesville, will be sold.

My large and splendid stock of Lawns to show I'm always willing,
The price, as all the Ladies know, is from sixpence to a shilling.
I've Fine Black Silks from Italy, and colored ones that's rare,
Plaid, Grodenaps and Marcellaines, and Florences to spare.

And such a lot of Hosiery, I know cannot be beat,
And Gloves a great variety, they are so very neat:
Just now, when Spring is coming, and every thing looks bright,
For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

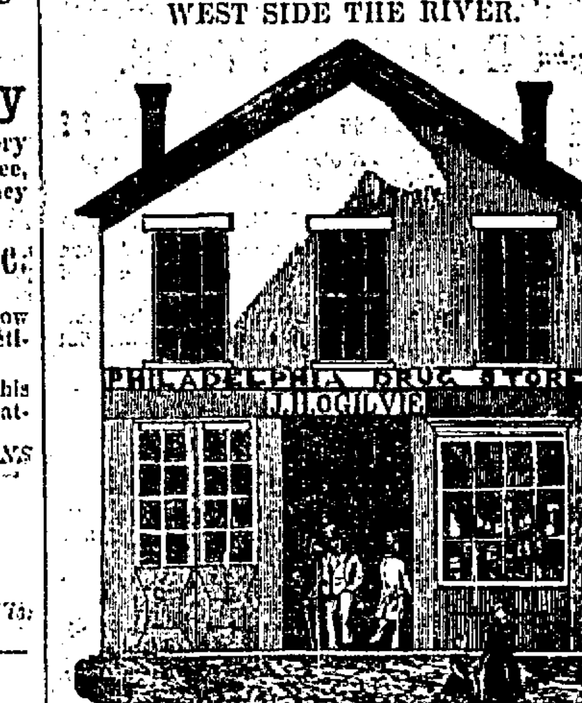

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

They say, long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap a any price we do not deal in; but buy only the bes grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism, Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints, Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciatica, General Debility,
Paralysis, Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease, Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness, Rheumatic Pains of the
Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Chest

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be consigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c. J. STEINERT, General Agent,

568 Broadway, New York.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c. —also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood—skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done—take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

For sale by HOLDEN, KEMP & CO., C. F. Simms, Cary & Gordon, Beloit; G. W. Kinsle, Magnolia; Goodrich, Davis & Co., Milton; S. A. Pond, Albany; P. D. Vaughn & Co., Union; H. Cheney, Johnstown; M. Elliot, Monroe. 48m8

RAILROAD STORE!

I WISH to call attention, as I have done before,
To the Goods I am receiving now at the Railroad Store,
Where all the newest Fashions, to suit the young and old,
The richest and the cheapest goods in Janesville, will be sold.

My large and splendid stock of Lawns to show I'm always willing,
The price, as all the Ladies know, is from sixpence to a shilling.
I've Fine Black Silks from Italy, and colored ones that's rare,
Plaid, Grodenaps and Marcellaines, and Florences to spare.

And such a lot of Hosiery, I know cannot be beat,
And Gloves a great variety, they are so very neat:
Just now, when Spring is coming, and every thing looks bright,
For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

They say, long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap at any price we do not deal in; but buy only the best grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

We would say, that we will sell you goods at New York and Boston prices, adding freight. You will find us at the old stand of J. B. CROSBY, two doors above the Post Office.

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism,	Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciatica,	General Debility,
Paralysis,	Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease,	Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness,	Rheumatic Pains of the
Dyspepsia, Indigestion,	Chest

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be consigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c. J. STEINERT, General Agent, 568 Broadway, New York.

LAST TRIBUTE OF CHATEAUROUX.

A TALE OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

As the traveler on the ice who sees it suddenly break before him, and the wild waves rushing upon the spot it had so lately covered, feels himself abandoned by hope, so Lucille at this unlooked-for misfortune was overwhelmed by despair. In the midst of her family and friends, she was alone, and among enemies; and the shock almost broke a heart long sorely tried, when she found her persecutors had left her no alternative but to marry Antoine Goudon, or see her children starve.

She listened in silence to the kindly words of Jean Pauline and his wife, but they brought her no consolation; and after a time she departed to her own home, and was received with shouts of joy by the children, whose future cost her such anguish. The unhappy young widow stretched out her arms, and clasping them to her heart, burst into a flood of tears, in which the little ones joined without knowing why.

"Almighty God!" she cried aloud, "what must I do to save these dear children?"

The sun that had witnessed these bitter tears had sunk to rest; and the moon, now near her full, had usurped his place in the heavens, and was shedding a broad light on the gray walls of the ancient chateau (which had braved the storms of eight hundred winters,) flickering on the gothic windows, and glancing on the dewy leaves of the trees that shaded the pathways around. Suddenly her light gleamed on something brighter beneath the branches. It was the white dress of a lady, who was walking slowly. She was young and very beautiful; but her deep black eyes were dim with weeping, and there were traces of tears upon her cheeks; while her hands were folded one upon the other with an air of helpless submission. In a short time a young and remarkably handsome man came forward from among the trees, where he had been concealed. The lady smiled sadly, and extended her hand to him, which he bent over and kissed with deep respect; then looking at her, he said sorrowfully, "You have been weeping, Clarice?"

Clarice de Bosuet shook her head in denial of the charge; but the tears overflowed her eyes at his words.

"What has happened to effect you thus?" exclaimed the young man anxiously. "Is it that the count has discovered the unmerited favor his fair cousin has shown to a simple merchant?"

"Do not say unmerited, Albert; you know the word is unsuitable. But it is true that my kinsman at least suspects our attachment; and the poor dependent cousin, of whose presence he scarce seemed conscious, became an object of sufficient importance to rouse his anger as soon as she dared to love without his bidding, though it was the man who at the risk of his own life had saved hers; and he has threatened that his heaviest displeasure shall fall on her, if she dares to see her preserver again; and sworn that ere St. John's day, he will wed her to a husband of his own choice!"

In the relief of confiding to another the griefs that weighed so heavily on her heart, the young girl had gone on speaking, without glancing at her companion, and she saw not how his cheek flushed, and his lip quivered with agitation, as he listened to the insults to which the one he loved so devotedly was subjected, and which he could in no way avert; for his own slightest movement would have redoubled them. At length he spoke, but in a tone so altered by suppressed emotion, that Clarice started at its sound.

"With respect to myself, I bow before the count's judgment. I acknowledge my own unworthiness, my own unsuitability. But with regard to this other—project (he could not say marriage,) must you yield such slavish obedience to his will?"

"The count is my nearest relative," said Clarice mournfully, "and he has power to give or refuse my hand, according to his own good pleasure. You know such are the laws of France?"

"Poor France!" sighed Albert Rabain; "no wonder evil days have fallen upon a land where hearts are held in such bondage."

"But there is one heart," said Clarice, "that, however it may be bound, will never forget the gratitude it owes you."

"Gratitude!" said the young man, bitterly; "it is a poor substitute for the happiness that, simple burgher as I am, I have sometimes almost dared to dream of."

As he spoke, the moonlight shone in upon him beneath the trees, and a nobler or more gallant youth could scarcely have been found among all the chivalry of France. No wonder that, aided by the prestige of his having rescued her from a horrible death, he had won the heart of the lord of Chateauroux's beautiful and high-born, though portionless cousin, who loved him with an earnestness and truth that rendered her perfectly indifferent to his want of noble blood, the circumstances which had so aroused the ire of the count.

Long the lovers strayed beneath the trees, discussing, not how they might achieve their union—for of that they had little hope—but how Clarice might escape the marriage that was so soon to be forced upon her. Marriage was then, as it is now, in France, a subject on which young women neither can, nor are allowed to, express a choice. They must accept with submission the person agreed upon by their friends, and are not expected to evince either joy or sorrow on the occasion.

Before her meeting with the young merchant of Chateauroux, Clarice de Bosuet would most probably have submitted passively to her fate, like thousands of her countrywomen; but now that her heart had been awakened, all was changed, and she would gladly have given every hope on earth, even life itself, to have escaped this threatened marriage; and in her despair of other means of shunning her doom, she had sought to embrace that death which draws on its weary years within the convent walls. But even the convent gates were closed against her; for Clarice de Bosuet was undowered, and the Augustine nuns, who dreamed or sighed away their lives in the gloomy pile on which she so often gazed with envy, received not into their community a portionless daughter of misfortune. Albert shuddered as he heard how nearly her very love for him had torn Clarice away from him forever; and in spite of his unhappiness, a thrill of joy shot through his heart at the conclusion. But in vain he strove to inspire the timid girl with brighter hopes; she could feel none; and once more alone in her little chamber, the tears shed that night by Clarice de Bouset, were scarce less bitter than those of the desolate Lucille beside her fatherless and friendless children.

And now Whitsuntide was close at hand, but the inhabitants of Chateauroux no longer feared it; their heartless exercise of power had gained its point, and they had rejoiced as if they had done a worthy deed. It was nothing to them that the hapless young widow grew daily paler and thinner beneath her father's roof. So that she lived to perform the service needed, what cared they for her after-fate! Even her parents seemed insensible as the rest; or they thought that time would reconcile Lucille to her second marriage, which was fixed for the morning of Whit-Tuesday—the only condition the victim had power to make being that they would spare her until the latest moment.

At length the sun of Whit-Tuesday rose brightly over the plain, paling the lamp that through the live-long night had gleamed on the kneeling form of the unhappy bride, and glancing on the gay flags and streamers that decked the town as for some high festival, and on the bands of peasants, who, in holiday attire, came crowding in from the surrounding country to witness the fete. All lips were dressed with smiles; all brows were radiant, save hers who was to play so prominent a part in the day's proceedings; and when they covered her night-black tresses with the long bridal veil, and placed above the wreath of orange blossoms, they almost started in horror, so pale and shadow-like were the form and features they saw beneath. But Lucille seemed no more conscious of their pitying looks than of aught else that passed around her that eventful morning. Without a murmur, she allowed them to deck her in bridal robes, and lead her to the church. The first thing that roused her was the wicked gleam that glowed in Antoine Goudon's hard gray eyes; and for a moment she trembled violently, and clung to her father's arm for support and protection; but he led her onward, and that last, short struggle with her fate was past; and without resistance she allowed them to place her hand in that of Goudon's; but he shuddered when it touched his, for it was as cold as that of the dead.

At last the ceremony was complete, and the spectators crowded round to offer their congratulations; but the despairing anguish on the brow of the victim bride almost arrested them on their lips, and more than one half doubted within his heart whether they had not prized their wealth too highly. It was now, however, too late for such reflections; and they all went forth to the Hotel de Ville, whence the procession was to start, to which the marriage of the morning had been but the prelude.

But all joined not in the applause. The younger and bolder spirits of Chateauroux blushed and murmured that so unmanly a deed should have been wrought among them; and many a voice echoed Albert Rohan's in crying shame on those who could find no nobler means to free themselves and guard their interests. Some muttered low of lordly tyranny and feudal bondage; for, though the spirit of trade had kept all quiet, and events still flowed in their usual course at Chateauroux, the storm of revolution which roared afar, had not been without its influence on many a mind, and there was an undercurrent of discontent boiling up, which only wanted an opportunity to burst over the calmer surface.

In a short time they reached the castle, at the gate of which stood the lord of Chateauroux, surrounded by the relics of feudal state which had lingered among the nobles in the provinces of France.

☞ Notwithstanding Judge Crawford, of the supreme court, dissented from Judges Whiton and Smith in pronouncing the fugitive slave law unconstitutional, he was forced to yield in some degree to the reasoning from which he dissented. In his opinion as published, he declares:

"The force of argument which has been brought to bear, as well against as in favor of the constitutionality of the act of 1850, in respect to these questions, has, I confess, raised doubts in my mind, but it has failed to produce that conviction which should justify a court, or judge, to pronounce a legislative enactment void, because unconstitutional, and I am therefore unable to concur in the opinion that this law is unconstitutional.

MORTALITY OF NEW YORK CITY.—During the week ending Saturday last, there were 1,130 deaths in New York. Of these, 241 were by cholera, being an increase over the previous week. Of the total number, 617 were under ten years of age, and 184 inmates of the various penal and charitable institutions. There were 60 deaths of consumption, 22 of sun stroke, 26 of cholera morbus, 75 of diarrhea and 42 of dysentery. The nativity of the deceased was as follows: 673 were natives of the United States; 281 of Ireland; 114 of Germany, and the balance of other countries.

ALL THE FOOLS NOT DEAD YET!—The Solons of the board of health at Lockport, Niagara co., N. Y., have denounced the practice of congregating in large numbers at funerals, and forbidden the burial in their grounds, of any person dying outside of the corporation limits. They have also made a proclamation to this effect:

"That all persons having families in said village of Lockport, are hereby ordered to refrain for 40 days from the date of this ordinance, from taking, boarding or lodging in their families, any person or persons who may hereafter and within 40 days from the date hereof, come into the said village of Lockport."

So, "for 40 days and 40 nights," no person "having a family there," can give a meal or a bed to a friend who is so unfortunate as to live outside of its charitable and humane corporation! We have had occasion to know something of the stupidity of boards of health in cholera time, but never knew so lamentable an instance as this. If there is any one in this section contemplating a visit to the one horse town of Lockport, N. Y., he or she is admonished to take "bed and board" along, with the prospect of "camping out."—Wis.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the thunder storm on Friday morning last, Mr. George W. Hooker, a resident of the town of Elida, in this county, was killed instantly by a stroke of lightning. The fluid entered the chimney and passed down to the lower floor demolishing a stove near which Mr. H. was standing, also killing a dog and stunning a child or two who were in the room. The wife of Mr. Hooker and some five or six other persons who were in an upper room of the house at the time, were uninjured. —Rockford Dem.

TRUE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.—A democratic convention in Ohio recently resolved against the repeal of the Missouri compromise in the Nebraska bill:

Because such repeal is in itself the worst form of abolitionism. Abolitionists of the north seek to have slave laws abolished by act of congress. In the present act, congress has abolished free law, which has existed thirty-four years, and by so doing, has rendered the substitution of slave law for free law highly probable in Kansas and probably in Nebraska.

DOG DAYS.—No less than 1900 dogs have been slaughtered at the pound since the 26th ult. Fifty cents is the price paid for every dog captured and taken to the pound alive, and over $2,000 have been paid to dog catchers. The crusade will continue to the middle of September.—N. Y. Mirror.

AN "OVER ISSUE."—A young woman of Coles county recently presented her husband with four children at a birth! This was her first effort in that line, and there is no telling therefore what she may be able to do hereafter.—Great country this and bound to prosper.—Southern Illinoisan.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE : : : : WISCONSIN.

MONDAY MORNING, AUG. 7, 1854.

For telegraphic news see third page.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.—The Milwaukee Sentinel of Saturday, has a private despatch dated New York, Aug. 4th, 6 p. m., saying congress had postponed an adjournment till to-day. Our despatches of the 5th show that the adjournment was in effect on the 4th, as originally designed, and that the prolonged session was only to enable the officers to close up the business and give the departing members three days more pay.

The Sentinel has also a despatch upon the same authority that the Minnesota land bill was repealed, but we see nothing of the kind in the Washington despatches.

DEATH OF JOHN A. MESSENGER.—The Milwaukee papers announce the death of John A. Messenger, Friday morning, of cholera. Mr. Messenger was a man highly esteemed in Milwaukee, and was very generally known throughout the state in connection with his arrest for participating in the rescue of the fugitive slave Glover. One of his brothers, Riley A., resided in Milwaukee, and another, Orson B., in Fulton, in this county.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.—It will be a matter of regret, if the president finds himself compelled by the obligation of his official oath, to veto the river and harbor bill. It contains items of appropriation for many objects, in themselves, worthy and necessary, and for the aid of which, no constitutional objections can be raised; but at the same time, the approval of the bill as it now stands, would insure the co-operation of government in carrying out projects with which government has no more constitutional right to meddle, than with the types and presses in our office. The item authorizing the expenditure of money for the "harbor at Dubuque," is a type of the class referred to. If the bill is vetoed, let the blame fall upon those who have loaded it with objectionable features, and not upon the president, who exercises a solemn official duty. Let the "democratic" senator from Iowa take his share of the burden.—Galena Jeff.

Our friend of the Jeffersonian is not very fortunate in this attempt to find an excuse for a presidential veto of a bill so important to western interests as the river and harbor bill. The "harbor at Dubuque" may be distasteful to the people at Galena, but something else will be required to satisfy the country at large with a denial of legitimate and long standing claims.

☞ Mr. Eastman, our representative in congress, has addressed a letter to the commissioner of the general land office, remonstrating against the withdrawal from sale of certain lands in the western part of this state, in anticipation of their being appropriated to railroad purposes. The official order of withdrawal stated it was based on "the earnest solicitation of certain senators and delegates in congress from Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota," and the tract embraced in the order was that "within about 15 miles of each side of the route of the railroad from Dubuque, via. St. Paul, to the mouth of Left-hand river, at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin," on Lake Superior. The number of acres withdrawn in this state is said to be 1,717,120, and Mr. Eastman says that but one of the senators from this state joined in the request to withdraw. Mr. E. does not designate which of our senators acceded, or whether the other was consulted at all, and sums up his objections as follows:

Because neither of my colleagues in the house of representatives were consulted.

Because no lands lying in Wisconsin have been granted for any such purposes as that stated in the proclamation.

Because, in the event of any grant being made for a road in Iowa, congress has no power, nor, if it had, would it exercise it, to grant land in one state to be disposed of by another state to aid in the construction of a railroad in a state in which the land is not situated.

Because no reservation of land should be made until grants are absolutely made by congress.

We see it stated in the Milwaukee Morning News that "The city and county tax of Racine is made up and amounts to THIRTEEN per cent., eight per cent of which is the intesest on the R. S. & M. R. R. bonds." This is news to the people of this city. The city council at its last meeting, voted to raise a city tax of eight per cent, to which is to be added a county and state tax, not exceeding two per cent. making ten in all.—Racine Democrat.

Any body who will own up to a tax of ten per cent, ought not, in conscience, to be asked to admit anything more; and the Morning News, if it is even expected to deal fairly, will make a retraction of its "fourteen" per cent statement at once.

MORE RAILROADS.—Two new railroad companies were organized in Madison last week, which together are to make another route to Lake Superior. The first in order is the Madison and Swan Lake (Portage City) road, and the following officers were elected:

President, L. J. Farwell; Secretary, A. C. Ingham; Treasurer, Simeon Mills.

Directors—L. J. Farwell, Simeon Mills, F. G. Tibbitts, M. B. Vanslyke, H. S. Haskall, M. B. Munn, N. H. Wood, W. D. McIndoe.

The other is the Portage City and Swan Lake road, and the officers in this are:

President, Walter D. McIndoe; Secretary, A. C. Ketchum; Treasurer, N. H. Wood.

A WELL CONTESTED SHIP RACE.—The three American clipper ships, the Sweepstakes, the Flying Fish, and the Wild Pigeon, in sailing 10,000 miles from China, all arrived at New York within fourteen hours of each other, having started at the same point, at the same time.

☞ The New York Scientific American states that the air ship Ericsson is being altered to a steamer vessel, the caloric engine having been abandoned.

WHO IS RIGHT?"—The northern defenders (there are very few advocates) of the Nebraska and Kansas bills excuse the repeal of the slavery restriction upon these territories on the ground that thetr freedom is not endangered by it. Setting aside the fact that any chance whatever for the admission of slavery is so much loss to the free states, inasmuch as its absolute exclusion was under that restriction fully provided for, we ask attention to the prospect and hope entertained by slaveholders to make the best part of the territory heretofore closed against them a lodgment for themselves and their "chattels." The Jackson Mississippian, of July 11th, contains a letter from a Dr. D. O. Williams, who has just returned from a visit to Kansas, giving the following description of the people who are settling it:

"All the best locations in the territory have already been staked out, and the foundation of a log cabin laid, by hundreds and thousands of slave owners from the border slave counties in Missouri, who have entered into solemn pledges to protect each other in his claim, and to keep all abolitionists from the territory. There remains no longer a doubt but that Kansas has already made a beginning which insures it a slave state. Greeley and the abolitionists may flounder and flutter until they are satisfied; Kansas is now a slave territory, and will be a slave state. There are already enough slave owners interested in Kansas to whip out all the abolitionists who may dare to pollute the soil with their incendiary feet. The slave-owners of Virginia, Kentucky, and Vennessee, by hundreds and thousands, will soon seek that delightful country, and, would you believe it Mr. Editor, Mississippians have already been in the territory and staked out claims in the names of men whom they have taken along to erect a log cabin on each pre-emption."

☞ The following piece of pleasantry is attributable to the Madison Argus. We rather think the "distinguished member of the last assembly" is only brought in on a supposable case to make a back ground for our Fond du Lac brother, who frequently manifests as much "independence" in his orthography as in some other things we might mention:

AHEAD OF WEBSTER.—The Fond du Lac Herald speaks of Mr. A. J. Reed, the new associate editor of the Union, and compliments his "unsophisticated diffidence."

We looked at the word some time, and finally appealed to our grave quarto friend, Noah Webster, but found no such word there. We concluded that Mr. Buck had got as far ahead of Webster as he had of us, and were about abandoning our investigations when a sharp friend, and a great guesser of riddles, at our elbow, suggested that the Herald meant to say "unsophisticated" and, come to think the matter over we also thought that might be it. But, "unsufisticated!"—shade of Johnson, Walker and Webster, was the alphabet ever so abused before? We commend a liberal use of the spelling book to Mr. Buck. A distinguished member of the last assembly who spelt the name of Deity with a little "j," and distorted a pocket time piece into "whonch," will have to look to his laurels. His reputation as the most successful victor over the acknowledged hardships of our language, is in danger.

"PROFESSOR RUSSELL COMSTOCK."—The Milwaukee News is lending its efficient aid in bringing this "distinguished gentleman" before the public in his new character of "fiscal agent of various railroads in this state." Last Friday it gave the following extract from a circular recently issued by the "professor," and prefaced it with an elaborate "puff" of the man and his "science." The News has at last found its level.

HIGH INTEREST, WITH BEST OF SECURITY.—Six, seven or eight per cent. per annum, lawful interest, payable every three or six months, at any post office or bank in the United States. The capital payable in 4, 10 and 20 years and perpetual leases.

Mortgages guaranteed by railroad and convertible, railroad preferred leases, railroad preferred stocks, city and railroad convertible bonds, paying 6, 7 or 8 per cent. Interest paid quarterly to order at any post office, or semi-annually to bearer at any bank in the United States, for sale in sums varying from $50 to 100,000 dollars, or offered as collateral security for money at 7 per cent. by Russell Comstock.

The mortgages are for less than half the value of the farm lands, and each title has been examined and found to be good, by four lawyers.

The railroads are in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Wisconsin.

I have spent 6 months in Wisconsin in the springs and summer of 1853 and 1854 and have given much attention to some of their railroads.

For the mortgages, leases, bonds and stocks apply to either of the 8 banks in Dutchess county, New York, on or after the 15th of August, 1854, or by mail to

INHALATION.

A Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart and Liver.

DR. THOMAS H. GREENHOUGH, late of London, England, resident Physician of New Orleans, for the above specialities, respectfully inform the citizens Janesville that he will remain a few days at the MERCHANTS' HOTEL, to afford those of the afflicted who may desire it, an opportunity of availing themselves of Inhalation, the only reliable process of cure.

The consideration of the connection between mind and body, and the influence of nature's laws upon the constitution of man, constitutes a very essential part of Dr. Greenhough's practice, and governs him in the administration of remedies, which are numerous and varied, to suit the peculiar condition of each case.

His plan of living (a hygiene sheet) embraces not only the kind of food and drink, but the kind of bath, exercise, dress, &c., most congenial to the organism of the patient.

Correspondence of the Whitehall Chronicle.

From Wisconsin.

JANESVILLE, July 14, 1854.

I have been in this beautiful and thriving city, the Rochester of Wisconsin, for several days. I should have written you before, but I have not had time to recover from the amazement into which I have been thrown by the wonders of this wonderful land. I had read of the west—heard of the west, and dreamed of the west. But the realities spread out around me transcend all that my imagination had pictured. In a letter I can convey no idea of southern Wisconsin—my powers are inadequate—and were they equal to the task, I should be charged with exaggeration. But Rock county, where I am, cannot be exaggerated in description. It is the Canaan of farmers, with scenery that would brighten the eye of a Claude Lorraine with extacy. Prairies, skirted with timber, stretched out as far as the vision can pierce, covered with vast fields of corn, oats, wheat, grass, and dotted with sleek herds of cattle. The neat and in many instance elegant residences seen on all sides tell that thrift brings the sure rewards of independence and wealth. Not a rod of poor or waste land can be found. The largest crops are raised with but little labor compared with the most favored sections of New York. One man, a boy and a horse, will attend to 40 acres of corn, the avarage of which is 40 bushels per acre. Compare this with the labor required in the best part of Washington county to raise 1600 bushels, and draw your own conclusions. The same difference exists in regard to everything else in the agricultural line, while buildings and other improvements are little or no higher than with you. Land, however, is high in this part of the state—say $25 per acre where improved; but I had rather have one hundred acres here than two hundred in any part of your county—and I say this as a farmer. Farms that sold three years ago for $5 per acre now command $30, and in five years more will bring $75. There are no stones in the soil, which is so perfectly free from grit that you may cut it up with your razor and not turn the edge. Plows never wear out—horses need no shoes except in winter, which is comparatively short and mild, with but little snow. Cattle fodder themselves at the straw stacks and upon the corn fields after it is husked. In summer, stock help themselves upon the prairie. Good water can be had by digging, though you must dig deep—but the soil is light and easily dug. I am thus particular, for I am a farmer, and so are a large majority of your readers, and such matters will be more interesting to them than other things not connected with their profession. I say profession, for it is deserving of the title, and I trust will yet rank among those denominated "learned." Cattle are as high here as anywhere—cows ranging from $30 upwards.—Horses rank among the fancies, especially the Black-Hawk stock, of which there is plenty in the neighborhood, as well as other good stock, and in my opinion better for practical purposes.

This town has a population of about seven thousand, with a continued and rapid increase. It is bound to be a prominent point. Some four or five railroads will in a short time cross here, making Janesville the great point of intersection. Rock river runs through the city, and there is any amount of water power that will ere long be driving the busy wheels of industry.—This is a "great country!" Labor here is dear, and living cheap. Labor-saving machines are in great requisition. Reapers, mowers, and threshing machines are everywhere seen—the mowers and reapers here are now "putting things through." This is the field for their successful operation—no stones, no stumps—but broad, lover, or gently rolling, boundless prairies shut in only by the horizon along which lazily float the fleecy clouds commingling in one grand union the beauties of sky and earth.

An anti-Nebraska convention was held on the 13th at Madison, the capitol of the state.—There was a large attendance, and strong resolutions were passed. A platform was made which you will find in your exchanges. They have made a great mistake, I think, in laying out too much work. One word is enough to make my platform. Reinstate the Missouri compromise. This is broad and comprehensive enough for all who oppose the infamous swindle of the infamous Douglas. The feeling against this demagogue and traitor is deep and intense. He is doomed, and the country can well dispense with his services. Yours, truly,

RUSTICUS.

AGAIN & AGAIN

THE BOSTON STORE.

Let the Horn be Blown!!

"Sound the loud timbrel o'er land and o'er sea," WHEELOCK'S triumphant, and ever shall be.

THIS is the middle of the nineteenth century, the first half of which has produced more change and onward movement than any fifty years of our Christian Era.

The great controlling power of this age is its commerce—indeed, this may be truly called the commercial age.

It has been well said by an ancient writer that

"Man wants but little here below,"

and to supply those wants

WHEELOCK

Announces to every people and every tongue, to both sexes and all parties, to all factions of all gauges, that finding his old store entirely

TOO SMALL!

He has been compelled, in order to be able to supply the immense call for goods at his establishment, to

Double the capacity of his Store Rooms!

Having purchased this spring, for this market, to be sold this season,

$39,007 00 Worth of Goods

But who can expect to read in the brief space of one life all the articles that the

BOSTON STORE CONTAINS.

Indeed, history must fail to give the searcher of knowledge any accurate idea of his immense

STOCK OF SUMMER GOODS,

His inimitable selection of

Fancy Dress Goods!

He has over

10,000 Yards of Silk Bareges, of every style and price, and it is with no great difficulty that the fair damsels of this fair valley can select,

FROM THE ONE THOUSAND PIECES,

Of all patterns and ranging in price from SIX CENTS Per Yard to Twenty-Eight Cents, such dresses as will add to their exquisite beauty, though it may as a general thing, be as difficult to add to that beauty as it is "to gild refined gold, paint the lily, or add perfume to the violet."

It must not be inferred that we offer only these and the many other articles for outer apparel, such as Chamelion and Foulard Silks, but all manner of

are on change, so that every one may be entirely accommodated with every article of female apparrel.—Eved French red foxed Gaiters,

do do wolfed do

Ladies' Enameled Boots, Enameled sewed Congress Boots,

LADIES MOROCCO POLKAS,

And all the articles manufacutred of the best styles.—So that of this store, so far as articles which adorn La Belle sex are concerned, it may be truly said

"CUSTOM cannot stale the infinite variety."

While the Boston Store has made provision to protect the feet, it can also boast that it has all sorts of

GLOVES,

by which hands can be protected and retain

"The white wonder of fair Juliet's hand."

And in taking leave of those of whom it is no exaggeration to say they are

"Heaven's last, best gift to man,"

the Nonpareils of beauty, the Paragons of perfection, Mr. Wheelock assures his fair customers that his assistants and auxiliaries are those who unite great knowledge of the business, fine personal presence and affability of manner to a determination to discharge CONSCIENTIOUSLY their several and respective duties—that while they may have the proper desire to effect sales, they will never in imitation of many of our contemporaries attempt to accomplish that object by equivocation, misrepresentation, exaggeration, tergiversation, fabrication, or by direct lying.

And now to the wants of the

COARSE-HAND SEX.

Mr. Wheelock has every kind of material to make those articles of dress that give to man his individuality—

PANTALOONS,

CALF "BEWTS," COW HIDE do., GAZELLE, do., PATENT LEATHER do., GIRAFFE do.,

HATS

That fit every head from the Websterian brow to the country politician's sconce, from the size of cajnt of him who is closely shorn after the Hibernian fashion to that of him who wears the well-pomatumed, ambrosialized, elongated Hyperion curls.

And to the speculator who buys to sell again,

The Boston Store

Can, at lower rates of usance than any other establishment west of the Alleghany mountains, furnish that class of exchanges so that riches will fill their pockets as water fills the sea. And to them we offer

DOMESTIC GLASSWARE, WORSTED,
Pocket Handkerchiefs, Inkstands, Cotton Yarn,
Ready-made Vests, Ground Pepper, Flannels,
Looking Glasses, Ready-Made Over Coats, Pants,
Raisins, Flat Irons and Cotton Batting, Lanterns,
Satchels, which the whining school-boy with shining morning face bears on his arm,
Chests, Norwegian Bandboxes and Hair Trunks,
Tea, Tobacco and Wicking.

In the

CROCKERY

Line may be found the

BENNINGTON, the PARIAN and the LAVA Manufacture, Pitchers for milk or water, Tea Pots, Spittoons, Bowls for washing, for bread and milk, or sugar, Candlesticks, children's Toys and Flower Pots, MAINE LIQUOR LAW VOLUMES and Lager Beer Mugs.

And in fine, the proprietor of this establishment can with all confidence assure those who have been in the habit of trading at Janesville that, although they have

"Often seen corruption boil and bubble till It o'errun the stew," they will find that the representations which shall be made to them by that proprietor or his clerks will not

"Stand like forfeits in a Barber shop, More in mock than mark."

The ONE PRICE CASH SYSTEM, originally introduced into this community and strictly adhered to by this Establishment, has won for it a reputation far more valuable than the Stupendous Self-puffings, quarterly renewed, industriously circulated but universally discredited, which many modern shop keepers deem indispensable to success.

The system will of course be continued—admitting no variation or improvement—to the satisfaction undoubtedly of a large and most desirable class of customers; although at the sacrifice probably of the steady patronage of inveterate higglers and those who inherit the belief that all Salesmen will cheat them if possible.

Respectfully,

NEW GOODS!

$15,000 Worth of

JUST RECEIVED AT THE

Wisconsin Boot & Shoe Store.

I AM now receiving one of the largest and finest stocks of Boots and Shoes that I have ever before brought to Janesville, and what is finer than all the rest, I can sell them at lower prices than I have ever sold before, notwithstanding the great advance in the Eastern Market. My assortment of

Ladies Fine Shoes,

in particular, I have no hesitation in saying cannot be equaled in the State, both for style and durability, being all made to order, and in such a manner that I can warrant every article I sell, with the understanding at all times, that if they do not come up to the warrant, they shall be mended free of charge.

GENTLEMEN'S WEAR.

In this line I know beyond a doubt that I can show you a finer assortment and at better prices by twenty-five per cent. than can be found at any of the side shops or Dry Goods stores about town. I want it distinctly understood that I make the BOOT AND SHOE TRADE my WHOLE STUDY, and that I Buy More, Sell More and know more about the trade, than the whole pile of petty dealers put together. And I know also that I can make it an object for Every Farmer in Rock County, as well as every one that trades in Janesville to buy their Boots and Shoes of me for the more I sell the smaller profits I can sell at.

Manufacturing.

I want to say a few words to you in regard to my Manufacturing Department, to wit: That I am now engaged more extensively in the manufacturing business, and probably am selling more custom work than all the shops about town put together, simply for these reasons—that I use better Stock, being entirely of Eastern tannage, which every one knows is worth twenty-five per cent more than the common western tanned leather; and what is a better reason and of greater importance, I can

and at the same time sell you a better article than you can get at the shops, for this reason, which you must all see is a very palpable one, that in buying my stock east and in such large quantities, I of course save a very large per cent, and thereby can sell at lower prices and at the same time make my profits.

I want to state further that I have secured the services of Mr. BUCKINGHAM, who has formerly been engaged in the manufacturing business on the west side of the River, and who is known by every one to be the best manufacturer in the city; and if we don't get you up a better article, both in regard to style and durability, we will forfeit our money and our reputation, and I pledge you my word that this is no small forfeit.

Leather and Findings.

I have just received over $3,000 worth of the very best brands of Eastern Sole & Upper Leather; also, a very large assortment of FRENCH and PHILADELPHIA KIP and FRENCH CALF SKINS, together with a full assortment of MOROCCOS of every kind, which I will sell at

Precisely Milwaukee and Chicago Prices.

I have constantly on hand, also, a large assortment of all kinds of FINDINGS, LASTS, BOOT TREES, CRIMPS, etc., etc., all of which will be sold at the same rates.

I request the attention of manufacturers in town as well as in the country to my stock, as I think I can make it an object for you to buy of me. At least, I can sell you a much superior article to that which you get of the pedlers.

TO THE LADIES,

I would say that I am under very great obligation for the partiality you have shown me, in always procuring your understandings from me, and I now publicly promise and swear that I will make every one of you who may be entitled to the same a present of a handsome pair of CACKS, when I shall have closed up my shoe selling career. I would say further, that I am prepared to get up to order any style of work you wish, at low rates. Yours respectfully,

J. B. DIMOCK, Proprietor.
T. H. BUCKINGHAM, Foreman.

By the way, don't forget the location of the Institution, three doors above the Post Office, Janesville, Wisconsin.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

FROM a Well 400 feet deep, Near Pittsburgh, Pa., is offered to the public as a Natural Medicine of no common value. It is a different thing from the old Kentucky or American Oil, as this is used INTERNALLY as well as externally. As a local remedy in Paralysis, Piles, Rheumatism, Deafness, Loss of Sight, Burns, &c. —also, as a valuable Internal Remedy for Piles, Ague, Scrofula, Coughs, Diarrhœa, Erysipelas, old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Female Diseases, Worms, Bladder and Kidneys, Bronchitis, Pains &c. &c., it invites the investigating Physician, as well as the suffering patient, to become acquainted with its merits.

Discovered in 1849, it has within 2 or 3 years, made multitudes of cures, and multitudes of friends—and as soon as tried the Sales not only increase but hold out. Testimony to its great merit is constantly accumulating in the hands of the proprietor by certificates, letters, and in other ways.

IT DOCTORS THE WHOLE MAN—flesh and blood —skin and bones—from head to foot—how it acts upon the system—upon diseases of different manifestations, we cannot fully tell. While it is both cathartic and astringent, it is Alterative—and mind you, a REGULATOR. A leading principle in it is Naptha. When you once have it in the family you will not be without it.

Full as the world is of Patent Medicines—it is thought not best to suppress this, the work of NATURE—to make room for Human inventions. Price 50 cents per bottle. It can be had of wholesalers at the large cities and towns in the West at Proprietor's prices.

HAVE WE AGUE AMONG US?—A tea spoonful every three hours in the absence of the fever will cure you of Ague or Diarrhœa. ☞ Physicians, Druggists, and all friends of the afflicted, will do well to recommend this Oil for PROLAPSUS UTERI, and good will be done —take the usual dose 2 or 3 times a day, and bathe the lower part of the back with it. Have you SCROFULA? The Petroleum will eradicate it, root and branch, at little cost or inconvenience. Get circulars of directions for adults and children, gratis of the agents. A trial is all we ask. Mind and get the right kind—it is of a beautiful reddish color and clear. Try it for Piles.

RAILROAD STORE!

I WISH to call attention, as I have done before,
To the Goods I am receiving now at the Railroad Store,
Where all the newest Fashions, to suit the young and old,
The richest and the cheapest goods in Janesville, will be sold.

My large and splendid stock of Lawns to show I'm always willing,
The price, as all the Ladies know, is from sixpence to a shilling.
I've Fine Black Silks from Italy, and colored ones that's rare,
Plaid, Grodenaps and Marcellaines, and Florences to spare.

And such a lot of Hosiery, I know cannot be beat,
And Gloves a great variety, they are so very neat:
Just now, when Spring is coming, and every thing looks bright,
For a glove to suit the season, the color should be light.

There are other Goods for Ladies, of which they ought to know,
That I keep in those blue boxes, and am always pleased to show,
Such as Blonde and Linen Edging, Cotton and Cambric, too,
Muslin and Cambric Needlework, and Gimps of every hue.

Those Undersleeves and Chimisettes I almost had forgot,
And Ladies' Needlework Collars, so beautifully wrought,
With Bishop Lawns and Cambrics, and Muslins fine and neat,
And Lace to make old ladies' Caps and trim them off complete.

And to parry Sol's "directer rays," I've Parasols to sell,
Of every price and color—they please the Ladies well—
And Umbrellas cheap for Gents, or so at least they say,
For lots of them get carried off, on every rainy day.

Such lots of Combs for the million, of every sort and kind,
To puff, or curl, or plait the hair, no better can you find;
And every kind of Buttons for dresses, coats and vests,
To sell by the gross or dozen—they are the very best.

And for Gentlemen and little Boys I have Fashionable Hats,
Silk, Beaver, Leghorn, Panama, and cloth and leather Caps;
And for infants, Hats with feathers and ribbons gay and bright,
And little Caps with tassels drab, orange, blue and white.

I have stacks of Linen, of yellow, brown and white,
And every other kind, of Summer Goods that's right
To make up into coats and pantaloons and vests—
As large a stock as any, that ever was brought West.

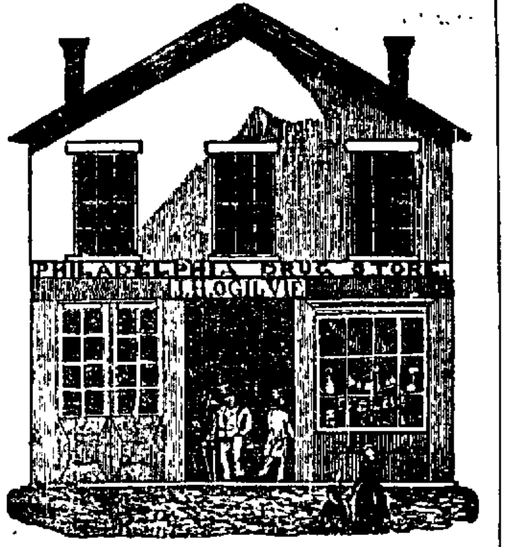

They say long advertisements, are not the oftenest read,
And that most may be meant, as oft, when least is said,
In view of this, I'll close my bill, and here invite you all,
Whenever you come to Janesville, be sure and give me a call.

IRA P. BALLOU.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

J. B. CROSBY & Co.

HAVE just returned from New York and Boston, and purchased so large a stock of Merchandise that they have not room to store them, and to remedy this, they have concluded to mark their goods down at

A TRIFLE ABOVE COST,

which will crowd their store with customers and ensure large and heavy sales, thus making room for goods yet to arrive. Ladies and Gentlemen,

THIS IS NO HUMBUG,

but a REALITY, and to be convinced of this fact personally, look through their immense stock, see the amount of goods they have in store, (and but a portion of their stock has yet arrived,) enquire the price, and you will acknowledge that we will sell you

GOOD GOODS, at nearly half the Price,

that other Merchants charge. We shall not mention a few leading articles and their prices, and sell the balance of stock at higher rates, as other Merchants do, but shall mark our whole stock at a small regular profit, and adhere strictly to the

ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our stock consists of STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, CROCKERY, BOOTS AND SHOES, HATS, CAPS, CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, READY-MADE CLOTHING, &c. &c., to which we invite especial attention, as to quality and price, as we are determined that

Every Sale shall give Full and Perfect Satisfaction.

Auction or shop worn goods which are not cheap at any price we do not deal in; but buy only the best grade of goods, and of the latest styles. We are the only House in Janesville that do a strictly cash business, and buying of importers and wholly for cash, we

CHEAPER AND BETTER GOODS,

than those who buy small stocks on time, and sell them the same way.

To Country Merchants,

We would say, that we will sell you goods at New York and Boston prices, adding freight. You will find us at the old stand of J. B. CROSBY, two doors above the Post Office.

1000 Dollars Reward,

WILL be given to any person—Physician or otherwise—who will perform a cure as quickly and permanently, by any means whatever, of any of the following diseases, as can be done by the use of

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains.

Rheumatism,	Nervous Headache,
Painful and Swelled Joints,	Palpitation of the Heart,
Sciatica,	General Debility,
Paralysis,	Female Diseases,
Spinal Disease,	Neuralgia of the Face,
Deafness, Blindness,	Rheumatic Pains of the

ALL NERVOUS DISEASES

Are almost instantly removed by the simple application of the Electric Chains, which are constructed so as to be worn next to the skin, producing a constant current of uninterrupted Electro-Magnetism, which within the last few years has been discovered to possess STRANGE and WONDERFUL POWER, in the INSTANT RELIEF and PERMANENT CURE of nervous diseases.

HISTORY.

Pulvermachers' Chain are presented to the public, as the most scientific and convenient mode of applying this powerful agent. They have been secured by patent in France, (where they were invented) England, Germany, Austria, Belgium, and one year since introduced into the United States, and also secured by patent. They are used in every Hospital in the State of New York, and highly recommended by professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, Carnochan, of that city, who daily make use of them in their practice.

THE WORLD IS CHALLENGED

to produce so many well authenticated certificates of cure, not only from intelligent patients, but from scientific Physicians. The sale now in New York is perfectly ASTONISHING, and thousands who visit the Crystal Palace where they are on exhibition, seldom fail to obtain a chain before they leave the city.

Thanks be to the common sense of the people who are beginning to become disgusted with the practice of making a Drug Shop of their stomach—swallowing bottle after bottle of sickening, disgusting trash, having no more effect in even relieving, much less curing, the disease for which they are recommended, than a Poor Man's Plaster applied to the top of the head would have in curing an infant of worms.

All these great and remarkable discoveries, by which every ill "which flesh is heir to" is eradicated from the earth—strange as it may seem—are made by men who are too ignorant to obtain a living by any other mode, and their knowledge of disease, its proper mode of cure, its cause, is just as extensive as an Arab's is of the mechanism of a steam engine. No intelligent person will deny the truth of this, and no Physician dare risk his reputation as an honest man, and declare that nervous diseases are not more frequently increased in severity than relieved, by the old antiquated way of giving medicine into the stomach. If people will only become sensible and think for themselves, and believe that physicians practice upon their credulity more than they have any idea of, pay strict attention to temperance in all things, (which means very much,) make free use of pure cold water, internally and externally, with an occasional dash of soap, sleep in freely ventilated rooms, retire early and rise early, be happy and cheerful, employ their physicians to tell them "they require no physic;"—by so doing health and happiness will increase, bottled molasses and water be at a discount, and its famous discoverers be consigned to their legitimate stations.

The Hydro-Electric chains are now for the first time offered to the people of Nashua, as being a better, quicker, and safer mode of curing all nervous diseases, than any other method or means hitherto discovered. They can be used by either a grown person or a child, are always ready for use, and with little care will last for years.

CAUTION.

Ladies who are enciente, are requested not to wear them, for by long use, miscarriage is apt to be produced.

Price of Chains, $3 to $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country, together with a pamphlet of 36 pages, containing the modes of use, certificates of cure, &c. J. STEINERT, General Agent,

568 Broadway, New York.
